Waldorf Hotel, Aldwych, London

Client: Forte UK Limited

Architect: Richard Daniels Limited

Scott White and Hookins' Role:

 Structural Engineering

 Civil Engineering

Abseiling techniques were used to survey the external envelope of the building which would have been virtually impossible by any other means. A full dimensional survey of the internal floors was also carried out.

The major refurbishment entailed the renovation of the front façade, including major structural repairs and the upgrading of all the bedroom accommodation while the hotel remained in use.
